THE CHRO RETAINER — BUILD SYSTEMS

Contents

The retainer that builds the systems your managers run and grows the managers who run them — the offer, the people side, the frameworks, and where it sits on the course. Four pages, in order.

01 Build Systems — The offer, the operating cadence, and what the retainer delivers. 3

02 The Systems & the Managers — The everyday systems your managers run, and how they grow into running them. 4

03 Scope & Operation — What we build, how we train and coach, and what we keep current. 5

04 The Method — Where Build Systems sits among the four cards — and what you're buying. 6

CHRO describes the service level, not a position; no CFHR personnel holds any client title, officer role, or employment authority.

Your managers grow into the job— the systems carry the routine.

Everyday HR — hiring, onboarding, reviews, leaves, and the hard conversations — plus the systems and training that let your managers move without waiting on you.

THE MONTHLY RHYTHM · TWELVE SESSIONS, FOUR REFRESHES, TWO RESETS

A manager training session every month — the calendar kept current underneath

Each month your managers get a training session, with coaching between sessions on the situations in front of them. Underneath, the calendar stays current, law changes are monitored, and exempt salaries are flagged for review each December, ahead of the January reset.

The CHRO Retainer

from $4,000/mo retainer

20 executive hours a month of CHRO-level work: training your managers, coaching them, and building the systems they run. Three months committed, then month-to-month on 30 days' notice.

The systems they run, and the managers who run them.

The audit mapped your exposure, and closing it worked down the findings. Build Systems turns to your people: the systems your managers run every day, and their growth as managers.

WHY MANAGERS SET THE SPEED

In a company of 20 to 100, most HR questions start with a manager and end on the owner's desk. That is where decisions stall. The fix has two sides: systems clear enough that the routine has an answer, and managers trained to use them and to hold the hard conversation well. We build the systems and train and coach the managers; you and your managers make the calls.

SYSTEMS

THE ROUTINE, WRITTEN DOWN · BUILT WITH YOU

HIRING	One repeatable path from opening to first day — the offer, the onboarding steps, and who owns each one.
REVIEWS	Regular 1:1s and a review cycle your managers can actually keep — a simple form, a schedule, notes written as they go.
LEAVES	A clear first step when an employee raises a leave or medical need — who hears it, and that it comes to you right away.
CANDOR	A shared way to prepare, hold, and document the hard conversation, so it happens early, not after months of avoiding it.

MANAGERS

TRAINED MONTHLY · COACHED BETWEEN SESSIONS

TRAINING	One session each month, built around what your managers are facing — feedback, 1:1s, reviews, the hard conversation.
COACHING	Coaching for your managers as live situations come up — how to prepare, what to say, and what to write down after.
PLAYBOOKS	Teachable models they keep using — Team Building for cohesion, GROW for coaching, Situation-Behavior-Impact for documentation.
TRIGGERS	The lines that bring a matter to you, with CHRO advice — including harassment, leave or medical, safety, and before any termination.

UNDERNEATH IT ALL

The standing watch.

California resets wages and thresholds each January 1; many cities adjust their own rates, some on January 1, many on July 1. We keep the Compliance Calendar current, monitor law changes, and refresh the Exposure Map each quarter. You decide, and your Reasonable Steps File records it.

CHRO describes the service level, not a position; no CFHR personnel holds any client title, officer role, or employment authority.
Monthly manager training is leadership development, not the harassment-prevention or workplace-violence training California requires.

SYSTEMS THAT RUN · MANAGERS WHO GROW

What we build, what your managers run — and how they grow into it.

A retainer that only activates for emergencies is an expensive hotline. This one builds the systems your managers run day to day, trains and coaches them each month, and keeps your calendar current underneath.

WHAT WE BUILD & TRAIN

01
Training & Coaching
One manager training session each month, and coaching between sessions as live situations come up.

02
Manager Playbooks
GROW for coaching, SBI for documentation, Team Building for cohesion — and the escalation triggers that bring a matter to you.

03
Hiring & Onboarding
One repeatable path from opening to first day, each step with an owner, so nothing rests on memory.

04
1:1s & Reviews
A rhythm your managers can keep: regular 1:1s, a simple review cycle, and notes written as they go.

05
Compliance Calendar
Rolling twelve months of obligations, each with an owner and a date — kept current as California law changes.

06
Exposure Map Refresh
Your Exposure Map refreshed every quarter, with written status — your Reasonable Steps File kept current.

WHAT YOU WALK AWAY WITH

→ Managers Who Grow Into the Job
Trained each month, coached between sessions, working from the same playbooks.

→ Systems That Carry the Routine
Hiring, onboarding, 1:1s, reviews, and leaves — one agreed way, written down.

→ The Monthly Working Session
One session with leadership each month — plus advice as issues arise.

→ Your Reasonable Steps File
Calendar kept current, law changes monitored, written status each quarter.

WITH THE MACHINE RUNNING — TWO WAYS

As your managers grow, the retainer's hours shift — from building the systems to sharpening them, and to advising you on the harder calls and what you build next.

OPTION A

Steady state
The retainer keeps the systems tuned and the managers growing — monthly training, coaching, the leadership session, the calendar, the quarterly refresh.

OPTION B · CUSTOM PROJECTS

Reach your destination
Whatever your destination — growth, a second location, succession, or a sale — CHRO-level guidance on org design, people strategy, and leadership, so you arrive with a company worth what you've built.

CHRO PROJECT · FIXED FEE · SCOPED UP FRONT

CARD 03 — RUN — IS BUILD SYSTEMS

WHAT YOU'RE ACTUALLY BUYING

Clear processes and trained managers mean decisions stop stalling on your desk. It's the difference between every HR question being a fresh fire and routine HR running on rails your own team operates.

— Your managers stop guessing.
Monthly training, coaching between sessions, and clear escalation triggers.

— The routine stops waiting on you.
Hiring, onboarding, 1:1s, reviews, and leaves on systems your team runs.

— The calendar remembers so you don't.
Your obligations dated and kept current, with an Exposure Map refresh each quarter.

INCREASE YOUR SPEED

Grow the managers you already have.

You didn't start the company to referee HR questions. With systems in place and managers trained and coached each month, your managers move without waiting on you, and your Reasonable Steps File stays current while you run the business.
